Trails Committee sees Gateway loop as a step toward Telstar's fields

By MICHAEL DANIELS

By the time the next school year rolls around, the long-envisioned foot/bike trail between Bethel Village and Telstar could be one step closer to a reality.

The Bethel Area Trails Committee (BAT) hopes to begin work by late summer on a leg of the trail that will extend east from Davis Park, along the north side of Route 26, then cross the Intervale Road and conclude in a half-mile-long loop around the perimeter of the 17-acre Gateway parcel.

The northern side of that loop (see map) would follow along Sunset Road, providing a starting point for a possible future connecting trail to the school property, about a half-mile to the east.

BAT member Kirk Siegel told the Bethel selectmen last week that the proposed trail extension would be a tangible step toward eventually connecting the school and village.

"We realize we can't build the whole thing in one year," Siegel said, "but we'd like to at least have a concrete achievement this year."

"If we could pull together a trail between Davis Park and upper Sunset on [Mahosuc] Land Trust property, we'd have a significant third or more of the way to Telstar," Siegel said.

Most of the new addition would be in the form of a half-mile long loop on the Land Trust parcel—assuming formal approval is granted from the organization's Board of Di-

GATEWAY LOOP—If the necessary approvals and funding can be obtained, the Bethel Area Trails Committee hopes to begin construction this year on a half-mile-long trail along the perimeter of the 17-acre Gateway parcel, owned by the Mahosuc Land Trust. The trail would connect with Davis Park along a narrow strip of land between Route 26 and the Androscoggin River.

Patriot's Day storm damage is light here

By ALISON ALOISIO

Local road crews may have expected to wake Monday to a long day of plowing snow, in the aftermath of a powerful Nor'easter.

But as the rain-snow line meandered generally to our north, they found themselves dealing instead with the ravages of runoff.

Fortunately most roads came through the storm relatively well.

In Greenwood, however, the rains washed out spots on more than a half-dozen roads.

Collapsed culverts, undermined pavement and washed-out shoulders kept the town's road crew busy, said road foreman Alan Seames.

Quick action minimized the damage after the Irish Neighborhood Road was undermined near a culvert, he said.

Another culvert collapsed on the East Twitchell Pond Road. The crew fixed it Tuesday morning, said Seames.

On the Howe Hill Road shoulders washed out, and there was some undermining of the road near culverts.

Seames said the road "is going to need a lot of shoulder work."

On the brighter side, a recently rebuilt gravel section of the road held up well in the rains.

The town road most damaged by this week's storm was the unpaved Sheepskin Bog Road.

Most of the damage resulted

Sports teams hit the road early

By ALISON ALOISIO

Local spring sports teams are on the run—across town, even around the state, scrambling to find dry places to practice.

And the Telstar baseball team, which normally practices at the school, has been doing its drills in Gould's field house.

April's weather has put a damper on the early season plans of teams at the two schools.

"We're all in the same boat," said Telstar softball coach Jim Lunney Monday, as rain poured down on the athletic fields.

But Lunney was looking at the silver lining in the storm clouds.

"The good news is that it's rain, not snow," he said.

Forecasters initially predicted over a foot of snow here early this week, but warmer temperatures brought rain instead.

Lunney said the rain at least encourages snowmelt, moving the fields one step closer to being usable.

"We were supposed to open our season today (Monday) at Dirigo," he said.

And two league home games scheduled for next week will likely be cancelled.

Lunney's best hope is to take the field for a real game April 27, at Boothbay.

In the meantime, he planned to take his team to the Fro-

Rebuilding Sunday River Road will be on Bethel's Town Meeting warrant

By MICHAEL DANIELS

It appears that upgrading Bethel's stretch of the Sunday River Road will finally go to voters.

In each of the past three years, $200,000 for the work had been included in the draft of the town's annual Capital Improvement Budget. But in each case, town selectmen and Budget Committee members axed the funding, in their effort to hold the line on overall town spending.

At this year's annual Town Meeting in June, however, voters will get to make the call for themselves.

The two boards are recommending that $100,000 be raised this year, enough to pay for one-third to half of the town's bill for upgrading its 1.4-mile stretch of the road.

The total project is projected to cost between $600,000 and $900,000, with the Maine Department of Transportation picking up two-thirds of the bill.

(Newry upgraded its .76-mile section of the Sunday River Road in 2002. The cost to the town was $54,428, which represented 25 percent of the total cost of that project. The balance was picked up by MDOT (50 percent) and the American Skiing Company (25 percent). Bethel declined at that time to participate in the project under the same funding arrangement, and the ASC money is

Telstar graduate's poem on men and cars selected by former U.S. laureate as one of America's best

By ALISON ALOISIO

"'68 army green Dodge Dart that $75 wonder from Delaware ... '72 Oldsmobile station wagon we called 'The Growler' that got timing chain troubles on the GWB in NYC ...

"Men want complicated toys and simple relationships. Women want simple toys and 'interesting' relationships."

"Roadside Special," a poem by Bethel native Betsy Davis Retallack, describes her husband's continuing quest for old cars offered for sale along the road.

With its humorous look at the differences between the sexes, "Roadside Special" struck a chord last year with former U.S. Poet Laureate Billy Collins. He chose it to be included in the anthology, "Best American Poetry, 2006."

"The poem," said Retallack, "seems to have a life of its own, taking me places I never expected to go and continue to go."

Retallack, the daughter of Amy and the late Stanley Davis of Bethel, is a 1975 Telstar High School graduate. She is currently a music teacher in Beverly, Mass.

Her late-blooming interest in poetry—she's recently self-published two books of it—had its roots in Bethel.

"My writing began in about fourth grade, when Alma Young gave us permission to write creatively," said Retallack. "I look back at those poems and see the excitement

RESPECTING NEMO

Pupils in Norma Salway's first-grade class at CPS last week learned about respect, responsibility and character, through activities with members of the Telstar Leadership Committee. The program includes reading stories on character building, playing interactive games with puppets, and having group discussions about positive relationships. The team has created murals to complement their stories, and story boards to enhance their work. Here, Kaiya Corriveau raises her hand (and the puppet character "Nemo") to answer a question from TLC members Megan LaCroix, Nariko Shimamura-Welch, Casey Thornton, and Roxanne Jewell. TLC is a 4-H initiative working with the University of Maine Cooperative Extension and the Mahosuc Kids Association. The program is sponsored by UMCE, REACH, a Cumberland Farms Youth in Action grant, and MKA. In addition to the character education program, TLC members have been involved in park clean up, mural creations at Telstar Middle and High School, career education and job shadowing. CONDOR MILITARY FLIGHTS

To the Editor:

Last week I attended a forum on the proposed changes to military low-level flights in the western Maine Condor I and II Military Operating Area (MOA). This forum was presented by the Maine National Guard, Air National Guard pilots from Otis Air Base at Buzzards Bay, Mass., and environmental representatives who did studies on the environmental impacts to the proposed changes. After listening to the proposed changes, I was surprised by the level of opposition expressed by a few disgruntled attendees. Apparently, they do not recognize that the proposal will actually reduce the numbers of aircraft flying as low as 500 feet above ground level (AGL) and increase the minimum altitudes now being flown by some aircraft. They hear the term 500 feet AGL, and go ballistic about the expected noise levels.

The proposed change will eliminate the two presently used low-level training routes in the Condor areas; these routes are actually "one-way highways" where aircraft fly within five miles of the centerline of the routes; some military aircraft which have a close air support mission (A-10 and some F-16 aircraft) have actually been flying as low as 200 feet AGL on these routes. Hence, the new proposal will eliminate aircraft flying below 500 feet. Under BRAC, the A-10 aircraft now using this area are being transferred to other areas of the country.

Two Air National Guard Units (an F-15 squadron at Otis Airbase, Mass., and an F-16 squadron at Burlington, Vt.) will be the only units remaining within range of the Condor areas. These units have an air defense mission which requires pilots and aircraft be on alert 24/7, leaving few aircraft available for training missions. The ANG pilots briefed that a maximum of 300 sorties per year may use Condor I and II (a sortie being a flight by a single aircraft). This works out to a maximum of about 50 missions, each consisting of flights of two, four or six aircraft — about one mission per week.

The planned concept of operation envisions all these aircraft entering the Condor areas at high altitude; then one or two aircraft will descend to 500 feet to simulate a hostile intruder or drug smuggler attempting to evade radar coverage. The other aircraft will remain at medium to high altitude and use their radar or ground direction to acquire the simulated penetrator. Only then may these aircraft descend to lower altitudes and attempt to set up an intercept of the "penetrator." There will be no "dogfight" type maneuvering below 7,000 feet due to safety considerations. Hence, any disruption of someone's "solitude" on a spot on the ground will last for a matter of 10 to 15 seconds!

Secondly, since this area is near the maximum unrefueled range of the F-15/16 aircraft, they can remain in the area only about 15 to 20 minutes before returning to base. Further, since this activity will be dispersed over the entire Condor area rather than a specific route, the likelihood of someone being disturbed is further reduced.

As a result, someone living under the Condor areas is unlikely to be disturbed for more than a few seconds every several weeks. Surely, we can give up that much of our solitude in the interest of national security!

SHOWCASE THANKS

To the Editor:

We'd like to thank the participants of the Sustainable Building Showcase for making it such a worthwhile event. The showcase was held last Saturday at the Lewin Center, Broad Street, Bethel. Special thanks to all of those who participated in our panel discussion on energy efficient living: Brian and Suzanne Dunham, Peter and Françoise Fetchko, Ray Geiger, John Elliot, Jerry Bernier, with moderator Kim Patnode.

Thank you to all of our speakers: Jerry Bernier of Bernier Concrete, Greg Roberts of Design Concepts Company-New Home Construction in Benton, engineer Jim Sysko of Newry, owner/builder, Eric List of West Bethel and Noah Wentworth of Evergreen Building Collaborative in Arundel.

Thank you to those who displayed their business offerings: Scott and Zizi Vlaun and Shawn Kane of Moosepond Arts in Norway, Betsy Fields, Deb Hays and Phil Bedard from Western Maine Supply, Chris Barstow of Specialty Timberworks, who also displayed the course offerings of Fox-Maple School in Brownfield, Dr. David Kyle, director of Efficiency Maine, for explaining the financial incentives for using renewable energy, Steve Galvin of Norway/Paris AccessTV for filming workshops and Iggy Brimmer for his camera work and general helpfulness, Millie Patnode for donating her painting for our poster, Toni Seger representing the Local Light Bulb Project and Ray Geiger for his technical help, Nancy Davis, director of the Lewin Center, for being available for questions even when on vacation.

We regret the mix-up in giving directions to the newly named Lewin Center (Gehring House). Steve Bies and Dr. David Kyle were unable to find us in time for their presentations.

CHAMBER AWARD WINNERS

To the Editor:

Once again the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce is excited to take the opportunity to recognize a business that has made significant strides in the past year, deserving community supporters, a forest products industry entrepreneur, and excellent employees who have made extraordinary contributions to their workplaces.

On Friday, May 11, the 38th annual Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce Awards Dinner, sponsored by W.J. Wheeler & Co., Inc, Oxford Networks, and Sunday River Ski Resort, will be held at the Grand Summit Hotel at Sunday River. Cost is $30 per person for a complete buffet dinner. For reservations, call the chamber office, 824-2282, no later than Monday, May 7. Payment options include credit cards, check, or cash, and prepayment is appreciated. Social hour begins at 6 p.m. accompanied by a silent auction, featuring dozens of items donated by chamber members and friends. The dinner will be served promptly at 7 p.m.

Chosen by the Awards Dinner Committee, we are pleased to announce and congratulate the following business and individuals for their selection as recipients this year. Elinor Andrews, owner of Ellie's and Andy's Workout Express is being presented the 2007 Business of the Year Award. Her new business expanded rapidly from women only to include men. It constantly changes to keep current with health and fitness interests. Ellie is a tireless innovator, seriously passionate about serving her clients, who become friends, and she does this always with a twinkle in her eye, a smile on her face.

The Forest Products Industry Award will be awarded to Clinton Bradbury, owner of Dixfield Discount Fuel, Premium Specialty Hardwoods, Maine Made Furniture, Premium Log Yards, and Premium Logging. Clint has been providing the western Maine area with economic development and jobs for more than thirty years. Clint purchased in 2005, the vacant Thurston's Mill and Mega Mart on Route 2 in Rumford. Now The Premium Complex, he put close to 60 persons back to work using Maine wood and lumber and Maine's historic work ethic.

The Lifetime Achievement Award is being presented to Dillon Gillies of Greenwood to recognize his consistent efforts spent in supporting local organizations, such as the Mahoosuc Arts Council, Bicycle Coalition of Maine, Trek across Maine, and the Bethel Area Chamber's many events. Bob and Lida Isles of Andover will be the recipients of the 2007 Henry H. Hastings Award for Citizenship. They successfully campaigned for two and a half years to purchase Whitecap Mountain by the Mahoosuc Land Trust to preserve its use for generations to come. Bill White, of The Sudbury Inn and Suds Pub, will be presented the President's Award for his devotion and service to the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce. Bill has served on the chamber's Board of Directors going on six years; he is the immediate past president of the Board of Directors. Donating so many hours to chamber work, he has served on the Marketing Committee, Membership Committee, Mountain Explorer Task Force, Triathlon Committee, Village Enhancement Task Force, and the Information/Interpretive Center Task Force. The 2007 Public Service Award will be given to Mike Jodrey of Bethel. Mike has been a faithful member of the Bethel Fire Department for 21 years, serving the Town of Bethel as Assistant Fire Chief and now Chief.

The chamber presents Employee of the Year Awards in four categories. Receiving the Education Award is Linda Kuzyk, a fifth-grade teacher at Crescent Park School and a 37-year veteran of the SAD44. Throughout her long career, her focus has been science curriculum, technology in the classroom, and above all, the importance of relationships with students, parents, and peers. Debra Wheeler, general manager of Funky Red Barn, is being presented the Hospitality Employee of the Year. She is cited by her employers as an exceptional employee and exceptional person, helping the new owners move to a new town and build a new business with unusual hardships. Receiving the 2007 Retail & Service Employee of the Year is Brian Colby, who began work at Brooks, Bros., Inc. in 1998. Excelling as store manager, he goes beyond normal customer service. He is a responsible employee with the utmost integrity and conscientiousness, besides being levelheaded, witty, and artistic! The 2007 Ski Industry Employee of the Year Award is being shared this year by two men, Jamie Breau and Matt Williams, who do lift maintenance at Sunday River Ski Resort. Both have been employed by Sunday River for five years, and during this difficult year with the weather throwing many curve balls, they kept the lifts operating daily. Not only are they effective with their technology, but also with people. They interface well with visitors and their staff, nurturing and developing each member of the department they lead.

The chamber also presents three Telstar High School students with awards. Justin Barton, of Albany Township, son of James and Dolores Barton, is receiving the Taste of Bethel Award in his pursuit of post-secondary training in the culinary arts at The Culinary Institute of America. Two students will be presented with Student Citizenship Awards: Caitlin Shimamura, daughter of Jeff and Jolene Littlehale of Bryant Pond, and Kevin Gallagher, son of Thomas and Elizabeth Gallagher, also of Bryant Pond. These three students were selected by the staff at Telstar Regional High School and have been cited as exemplary individuals.

Volunteer of the Year is the one surprise award of the evening. The emcee of the event will be Dr. David Murphy of Bethel. Our frequent host, Dave keeps the evening lively and memorable.

Once again, all community members are welcome to RSVP by May 7 to reserve a seat at this wonderful celebration.

Robin Zinchuk
Executive Director, Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

BRING ON THE WARMING

To the Editor:

I read with interest and some confusion the article in last week's paper about global warming. The jury is still out regarding how much impact we are having on climate change versus the earth's natural warming-cooling pattern, but let us assume we are the cause. Why would we want to encourage the winter recreation industry? Skiways are huge clear cuts where the carbon dioxide absorbing trees will never grow again. Hundreds of thousands of cars are on the highways spewing their exhaust to get their occupants to the slopes or to mount their carbon dioxide polluting snowmachines.

My impression of the article was that I should remodel my house and get a smaller pickup so that the environment will be protected and the ski and snowmobile industry will thrive. It would seem to me the environment would be better protected by banning both of those sports.

I assume that the emission control people are demanding action in China too. A recent report by the International Energy Agency predicted China will become the world's largest emitter of CO₂ before 2010.

Now for the real point of this letter. I encourage all Mainers when asked to vote on enlarging golf courses, ski areas, shopping malls and housing developments please vote for them. Anything that promotes tourism you should support because those tourists usually drive here.

Won't that contribute to the warming you ask? I'm not sure, but if it does I'm for it. I've lived in Maine my entire life and I enjoy the milder, shorter winters. As I approach retirement the thought of having much warmer winters so many of us could comfortably spend the winter here instead of going south is super. A warmer climate here in Maine is great as far as I'm concerned. Is this selfish? Of course it is! But is it any more selfish than all the people who have moved here, bought property and put up "No Trespassing" signs so people who have used the land for years are banned. I understand it is their right, but it isn't neighborly. It isn't the way Mainers have always been. It's selfish and it's typical of our society today.

Does anyone seriously believe that if the sea levels rise we won't be smart enough to deal with it? Kevin Trenberth, chief of the Climate Analysis Section at the National Center for Atmospheric Research says, "even aggressive mitigation would yield benefits many decades in the future, and that no amount of mitigation can avoid significant climate change."

Mr. Trenberth testified before the House Ways and Means committee regarding the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change report.

SENIOR PLAYERS' THANKS

To the Editor:

As director of the Senior Players, I wish to commend the 14 very fine and talented actors in the group. This past weekend they charmed their audiences as evidenced by the continuous, spontaneous laughter coming from the audience. We were all excited and gratified by the community response to our performances and their generosity in helping us to defray royalty expenses. Thank you Bethel and all the theatergoers from neighboring communities.

We also wish to thank the Western Mountains Senior College for providing us the opportunity to participate in a theater course, Nancy Davis for allowing us the use of the Gehring House for rehearsals and Gould Academy for making their facilities available to us for dress rehearsals and performances. All of these people and groups have been extremely gracious to us.

I would like to give special recognition to the Bethel Citizen. As a community we are very fortunate to have access to a newspaper that covers our local events with such creativity and expertise. Thanks to everyone who made this weekend so special.

GSR boarder wins national title

NEWRY—Gould Academy/Sunday River athletes brought back a title and strong finishes from the United States of America Snowboard Association National Championships, held during the first week of April at Northstar at Tahoe. Jordan Sanford of Shapleigh bested a field of 72 to take first place and the national title in the 14-15 year old category. "Jordan was pretty much untouchable. I'm not sure if he expected that level of success, but his performance was worthy of first," said GSR snowboard coach Chris Davies. Jackson Tupper of Kennebunk placed fourth in slopestyle out of a field of 77 in the 14-15 year old age group. The USASA Nationals brought 1,400 male and female snowboarders ages 8 to over 60 together to compete in various disciplines. Other GSR athletes who had strong finishes include Sarah Skillin, who placed seventh in slalom, Whitney Poulin, who placed eighth in bordercross, and Kyle Dorfman, who placed 12th in slopestyle.

Cause of lodge fire a mystery

LOVELL—The cause of a weekend fire that destroyed an historic lodge on Kezar Lake may never be known, investigators from the state Fire Marshal's Office said. No injuries were reported in the Saturday morning blaze that leveled one of the grand old buildings on the grounds of Severance Lodge. "We kind of realized that if this ever happened, this is the way it would be. There was no way to stop it because the building is so old," maintenance supervisor Russell Allen told WCSH-TV in Portland. Firefighters arrived to find a 40-foot wall of flames, but there was nothing they could do to save the building, Fire Chief Mark Moulton said. He said the main concern was keeping the fire from spreading to other structures. Because a nearby hydrant was too close to the flames, firefighters had to break ice on Kezar Lake to gain access to water. The lodge had burned in 1918 and was rebuilt three years later. Its most recent use has been as condominium units. The owners of the building have said they hope to rebuild.

Fibromyalgia lecture scheduled

BETHEL—Dr. Ray Higby, a chiropractor at Bethel Station, will lecture at Ellie's Workout Express April 26 on fibromyalgia, a condition characterized by widespread pain in muscles, ligaments and tendons. His 1 p.m. talk will focus on defining and identifying the condition, and on its varied causes. Two other lectures will follow at dates to be announced, and will address treatments and living with fibromyalgia. For more information, call 824-3539.

Coffee brandy tops with Mainers

AUGUSTA—When it comes to spirits, coffee brandy remains Mainers' libation of choice. State sales figures for last year show that Allen's Coffee Flavored Brandy remains by far the top-selling brand of liquor in the state, just as it's been every year for more than a decade. Nearly 994,000 bottles worth $11.9 million were sold in four different bottle sizes in Maine in 2006.

Maine Bureau of Insurance consumer alert on weather-related property damage

The Bureau of Insurance issued a Consumer Alert on Tuesday to provide information and assistance to individuals adversely impacted by recent storms. The Bureau's acting superintendent, Eric Cioppa, outlined a series of actions that would benefit homeowners and others affected by weather-related property damage.

"As soon as conditions safely permit, consumers are encouraged to follow the steps recommended by the Bureau of Insurance, and to contact this agency with questions and concerns. We also urge Maine people to plan ahead for future storms and weather-related emergencies," Cioppa said.

— Move quickly to contact your insurance agent. Get in touch with your insurance company as soon as possible to report your loss. If you have flood insurance, start by calling your insurance agent to report your claim. The agent will prepare a "Notice of Loss" form and an adjuster will be assigned to assist you. Follow the instructions given to you by claims personnel. Since many people may need help at this time, anything you have done before the storm to prepare for a loss will benefit you now.

— Take notes. When contacting the insurance provider, keep a record of the people you spoke to, when the conversation occurred, and summarize the discussion. Ask questions if you do not understand instructions. If possible, photograph the outside of the premises, showing the flooding or other damage. Also, photograph the inside of the premises, if applicable, to show damaged property and the height of flood waters.

— Figure out extent of damage. Separate the damaged from the undamaged property and put it in the best possible order for the adjuster's examination. If possible, protect the property from further damage.

— Wait for the adjuster to arrive. Do not call anyone to repair or replace your loss without first getting instructions from your adjuster since your insurer's visual inspection of your loss may be necessary before repairs should occur. Do not throw away damaged property until your adjuster says it's appropriate to do so. If your home is damaged, make only temporary repairs until a claims adjuster looks at the damage. Making permanent repairs before the adjuster's inspection could trigger a denial of your claim.

To prepare for future storms and possible natural disasters, the Bureau of Insurance recommends a number of proactive steps:

— Plan now for a possible future claim. Inventory personal property, including all model names and serial numbers. Don't overlook items used seasonally or infrequently, such as special china and silverware, holiday decorations, summer and winter sports equipment, and carpentry tools. Save sales receipts and photographs. Consider videotaping rooms. Store the information off-premises, such as in a bank safe deposit box.

— Review insurance coverage to make sure it is adequate. Hurricane damage is covered under a homeowner's policy, but it is important to insure your home and belongings to their full replacement cost. Flooding is generally not covered under standard homeowner's policies, so ask your agent about the National Flood Insurance Program. If you rent a house or apartment, talk to your agent about renters' insurance.

— Learn the facts about flood insurance. You can protect your home, business, and belongings with flood insurance from the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP). NFIP flood insurance can be purchased from private insurance companies and agents. Whether you rent or own your home or business, make sure to ask your agent about contents coverage. It is not automatically included with the NFIP building coverage. There is usually a 30-day waiting period before the flood coverage goes into effect. For more information, contact NFIP at (800) 638-6620 or visit www.floodsmart.gov.

— Contact the Bureau of Insurance. If you have questions or concerns related to damage that has recently occurred, or if you'd like additional information in order to prepare for the future, contact the Maine Bureau of Insurance toll-free by dialing (800) 300-5000 or visit (www.maine.gov/insurance).

rectors. The board has previously given conceptual approval of a trail along the edge of the Gateway property, Siegel said, and BAT (a subcommittee of the Land Trust) is expected to present a formal proposal for the project in the near future.

In addition to the Land Trust and town of Bethel, BAT has been in discussions with the Maine Department of Transportation (whose right of ways would be needed for sections of the trail) and with 10 local landowners.

Most of those landowners could potentially be involved in the further extension of the trail, to Telstar.

And they liked the idea. "We got positive response from basically every landowner we met with," Siegel told the selectmen.

no longer available. "That gift horse walked off," said Town Manager Scott Cole.

The total Capital Improvements Budget going to voters in June calls for spending $516,940, up from $344,327 last year.

Included in the $516,940 figure is $112,600 to pay for resurfacing and/or upgrading sections of a half dozen town roads (parts of the Bailey, Intervale, Holt Hill, and Annis roads; and Sunset and Martin lanes).

There is another $96,000 in the budget for constructing sidewalks on Mason Street, but that money will come not from town funds but from the state's "Safe Roads to School" program.

(The level of actual state funding that will be available for such things as roads and sidewalks is uncertain at this point, due to the budget situation in Augusta, Cole said. The town should have the final details well before Town Meeting, he said, and if the state cuts its funding for projects in Bethel, those projects

Narrow passage
But for now the challenge is to get to upper Sunset, and that will entail not only getting the necessary approvals, but also coming up with a safe way to negotiate the ten-foot wide, roughly 50-yard-long strip of land just northeast of Davis Park.

The strip runs between the guardrail of Route 26 and the steep bank of the Androscoggin River.

The land there is in the MDOT right of way, and is already used regularly by some walkers and runners.

But as a matter of safety, especially for smaller children, the nearby riverbank would need to be fenced before a trail designation would be appropriate.

Siegel suggested last week that this might be an expense the town could be persuaded to bear.

The town would also be asked to accept the easements for the new trail (as it has for the existing one mile of trail between Davis Park and the North Road).

"I don't want to downplay that," Siegel told the selectmen. "I want to make sure the town accepts it with its eyes open, and, hopefully, you will agree it's a good move."

The selectmen asked him to come back to the board when details with MDOT and the Land Trust have been firmed up.

Town Manager Scott Cole said Tuesday there is still time to put the question of accepting the easements on the warrant for June's annual Town Meeting, but there is no current funding in the pipeline that would be available for construction of fencing along the riverbank.

will not be put to voters.) Other Capital Improvements proposed this year include $125,000 to replace a 1990 highway truck and gear; $10,000 for a 20-ton equipment trailer; $6,500 to purchase a new, state-mandated voting machine; and $33,740 for new Police Department software.

The new police software would replace "80s' vintage software that's no longer compatible with anything," Cole said. Capital improvements proposed but ultimately cut during this year's budget review included $26,000 for a Police Department SUV, $25,000 to top coat the Fire Station parking lot, and $10,000 for improvements at the skateboard park.

The last item was cut, Cole said, "pending more details on what needs to be done there."

Operations steady
This year's proposed budget for town operations is $3,086,901, up $274,853 (9.8 percent) from last year's budget of $2,812,048.

The major line increases include: Public Works, up 9.7 percent, to $498,978 (includes consolidation of mowing and Mountain Explorer funding into this line); assessors, up 31 percent, to $40,950 (includes $7,200 for digitization of town tax maps); Fountain, Parks and Cemetery, up 10.7 percent, to $12,450 (includes $1,000 for Davis Park repair and improvements, and $3,000 to replace the town's worn out American flags).

Town selectmen and Budget Committee members are scheduled to meet on May 7 to put the final touches in this year's budget proposals.

Poet

that was stirring then. The poems were pretty bad but it opened a door for me creatively."

At about the same time, she began to study piano with Arlene Brown.

"I started to create my own song lyrics with my musical doodlings," said Retallack. "That habit lasted right through into my adulthood, and I continue to write songs even now."

"Writing poetry was not foremost on my mind as much as lyric writing set to music. That kind of writing often was a simultaneous experience, leaning heavily on meter and form to get the most out of the power in the delivery of the finished song."

"For years I paid close attention to this art form, listening to other songwriters, particularly Joni Mitchell, to look to them for inspiration."

"So I wasn't spending time reading good literature or even reading poetry or finding out who was 'out there' that was great in the world of poets."

"It wasn't even on my radar screen until I enrolled in graduate school and began a creative writing course," said Retallack. "I was used to the strict meter that songwriting required, and so exploring new ways of writing was like going into a writing candy store."

The course was part of her master's program in creative arts and learning at Endicott College.

"Roadside Special" was first published in the college's 2005 "Endicott Review." Unknown

The poem has found its way to other audiences, too.

"I was at a car show last year here in Beverly," said Retallack. "I talked to a friend with a Model T about my poem, and he suggested I bring a few copies to pass around, and so I did."

Since finding the inspiration to experiment with poetry, Retallack has become a prolific writer.

"I had all the tools, but just never took the time to refine those hidden skills," she said. "Again, I was given permission, by a very talented, enthusiastic teacher, to just write whatever I wanted to write."

Some of her poems are based on childhood memories from Bethel. Among the titles: "On the Way to Maine,"

"Real Winters," "Heritage" and "Knowing East."

She recently did a poetry reading at the Bethel Library.

Retallack's self-published books include "From Poet's Hill," and "Hearing Voices from Poet's Hill." She's also recently submitted another manuscript to publishing companies for consideration.

Her books are available at Books 'N Things in Bethel.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department.

Back in the olden times, as my grandchildren like to call my childhood years, paregoric was the over-the-counter drug of choice. I remember getting it diluted with warm water for any stomach ailment. It was also rubbed on the gums for any tooth discomfort I may be suffering.

I don't think it cured anything. I think I just got such a buzz that I didn't mind what ever was going on. Everyone used paregoric back then; it was good stuff!

That couldn't be said for the cure for cold sufferers though. At least in my family we used Vicks Vapor Rub but I don't think it was possible and if it didn't work there were mustard plasters for severe cases. Again, I'm not sure if any of that made you better, but I can tell you when the mustard plaster went on I sure pretended to get better pretty darn quick.

That was definitely a case of the cure being worse than the illness. If you never experienced the joys of a mustard plaster on your chest, consider yourself lucky. Never have I suffered through such burning or endured such an odor that close to my nose.

Well, that was then. This is now and there are over-the-counter and prescription drugs for every possible thing a person can suffer from. I don't imagine that any of them smell or burn like a mustard plaster and that's a good thing. However, modern medicine is not without a few unpleasant side effects too.

A few years ago I came down with a bad case of strep throat. The doctor put me on an antibiotic that came in a capsule so big it felt like razor blades going down my already raw throat. Then it gave me such a severe stomachache I prayed for paregoric. The antibiotic did cure the strep throat, but I ended up with a yeast infection.

I've been noticing a lot of commercials on television for prescription drugs so the patient can pressure their doctors into what they think will make them better. If they listened to the commercials very carefully they might think twice before pushing their doctors into every drug they see on television.

Toward the end of the advertisements they tell you about the side effects. I've noticed that the speaker speeds up and lowers the voice at the same time. I guess this is the vocal equivalent of fine print.

One particular drug for Everyone used paregoric back then; it was good stuff!

asthma sufferers sounds like it should be just what the doctor ordered, at least until you hear about the side effects. They include upper respiratory infections, cough, breathing difficulties and heart attack.

It's probably a small percentage of people who experience the side effects, but don't asthma sufferers already have upper respiratory infections and breathing difficulties without having to worry about having a heart attack too?

There is a new prescription medicine available for those who toss and turn all night. It sounds like an insomniac's dream because the television commercial warns that the taker of this drug must be able to have at least 7 to 8 hours of undisturbed sleep time. That would imply that a really good night's sleep is in the offering.

One of the side effects is drowsiness, which to my way of thinking is exactly what I'd want in a sleeping pill. But, one of the other side effects is diarrhea. Maybe it's just me, but I would be a bit reluctant to take something that has the potential to put me into a deep sleep for 7 or 8 hours, out like a light, never knowing that I was being hit with a bad case of the back-door trots until I woke up! The good news is that you'll sleep like a baby. The bad news is that you'd better wear a diaper like a baby.

There are a lot of new antidepressants on the market now that promise a better outlook on life. However, there are side effects there too. One is suicidal tendencies; not what I consider a good outlook on life. Another is a warning for men of the possible sexual side effects.

However, there are pills for that too, but not without a different type of side effects. One warning states if the desired results last more than four hours a visit to the doctor or emergency room is warranted. In a different publication I might elaborate on that a bit, but for now, I'll just leave it alone.

My whole point to begin with was what a long way medicine has come since the days of paregoric and mustard plasters. Great strides have been made to cure what ails you, and the way I see it, if the cures don't kill you, make you sick, cause a heart attack or stroke, then they may be just what the doctor ordered.

from blocked ditches that prevented water from running off.

"There was snow in the ditches, and the water couldn't find the culverts," he said.

As of Tuesday, the lower part of the road was passable only by four-wheel-drive (photos, Page 6).

The road will need a large amount of gravel to repair the damage, said Seames.

On the Richardson Hollow Road, a shoulder washout was about three feet wide and three feet deep, he said.

Martin Road also washed out, and a culvert on the Young Hill Road was blocked for a time.

Seames said the forecast of snow Sunday night had his crew gearing up for plowing. Had he known it would be mostly rain, said Seames, the crew likely would have spent more time before the storm cleaning out ditches.

Other towns

Bethel, Newry and Andover reported few if any problems with washouts.

In Woodstock, shoulders washed out on the Old County and Curtis Hill roads, said Town Manager Vern Maxfield, but the roads did not need to be closed.

"We made it through the storm in pretty good shape," he said.

In Albany, there were some shoulder washouts on Route 5 and the Hunt's Corner Road.

Teams

zen Ropes indoor facility in Westbrook this week, to play a three-way scrimmage with Hall-Dale and Sacopes Valley.

Meanwhile, Telstar baseball coach Bob Remington is trying to make the most of his time in the Gould field house.

"We may not even get on our field until May," he said last week.

About five years ago, said Remington, two late season snowstorms prompted him to take his team to South Boston to play Maranacook.

But conditions this year seem worse, he said, not because of the snow, but because of the cold weather, which has kept the snow around longer.

Sharing at Gould

Gould's men's lacrosse team has had some luck playing outside — but only by traveling to warmer places, such as Brunswick.

"All of our spring teams have been sharing time in the cage of the field house, which has meant practice times that go late into the evening," said Adrienne Shibles, the school's athletic director.

In addition to Telstar, the Oxford Hills baseball team has also been using the field house at Gould.

"Men's tennis has played matches indoors thus far," said Shibles. "Lots of teams run around town. It has been challenging, to say the least, but the student-athletes are trying to stay positive and focused on the things that they have control over."

And coaches have been doing their best to keep spirits bright under the gray skies.

Last Wednesday, said Shibles, "We cancelled evening practices to have a Spring Fling event in the Bingham Gym ... limbo, volleyball, dancing and a barbecue, to reward them for their patience and to fend off the winter blues."

Bethel

Frank and Janie Vogt's five children, Dan, Kathy, Susan, Amy

and Laurie were all at their home on Saturday, April 7. While they were in the area, they attended the funeral service for Elmer Ryan of Oxford, a cousin. It had been some time since all five siblings were together at one time.

The Genealogy class on Wednesday was well attended as usual. A group from the class went, Saturday, to Portland to attend the Portland Historical Society open house.

Jackie Crouse Gammon reminded me it's not unusual to have snow and rain in April and May. She was born in May 1947 and there were floods and heavy snow that year. So they run in cycles.

Check out Channel 2. The programs are really good. Browns Variety Store is being presented this week and its worth watching.

The Senior College presentation, directed by Lynn Arizzi, was excellent. We have some fine actors in our midst.

Barbara Douglass was guest of honor at a surprise 90th Birthday Party at her old home in Mayville on Saturday, given by family members. Many friends from near and far were present.

West Bethel

by Lorrie Hoeh

The big news this week continues to be the cockamamey weather. Following the Thursday storm which dumped 12 inches or more over the area, we had another four to six inches on Sunday evening and the night before it turned to rain and sleet, leaving an unholy mess on roads and driveways. Think Major Slush. Forecasts are for rain, heavy at times, for most of this week. I wouldn't be surprised to see some flooding on the scale of the April Fool's flood of 1987.

When I was moaning about all this winter weather in mid-April, my daughter, Martha, reminded me that I, of all people, should be able to "roll with the punches." She's right, of course. Thank goodness it isn't all snow. I'll just remind myself that "If winter comes, can spring be far behind?"

The goldfinches are changing to their summer plumage, turning more yellow each day. Finches, chickadees, juncos, and occasional sparrows continue to decimate the seed supply, but we are happy to have them do so. Last Thursday, we saw another evening grosbeak. We've seen no further signs lately of the hawk which did in a blue jay last week.

I just learned about a couple of birthdays that took place last week. Happy Birthday wishes go to Jane Hosterman and Marilyn Gilbert, both a year older, but still young at heart. Many happy returns of the day to both.

And speaking of birthdays, Lisa Pivin had one on Sunday. The plan was to celebrate by going down to Portland for the day with mom and dad Linda and Reg Westleigh, meet up with daughter Laura, and see the town. However, the prospect of treacherous driving put the kibosh on that (the weather again!), and the celebration will have to wait. Our best wishes go to Lisa nevertheless, and we hope it was a happy day even without the trip.

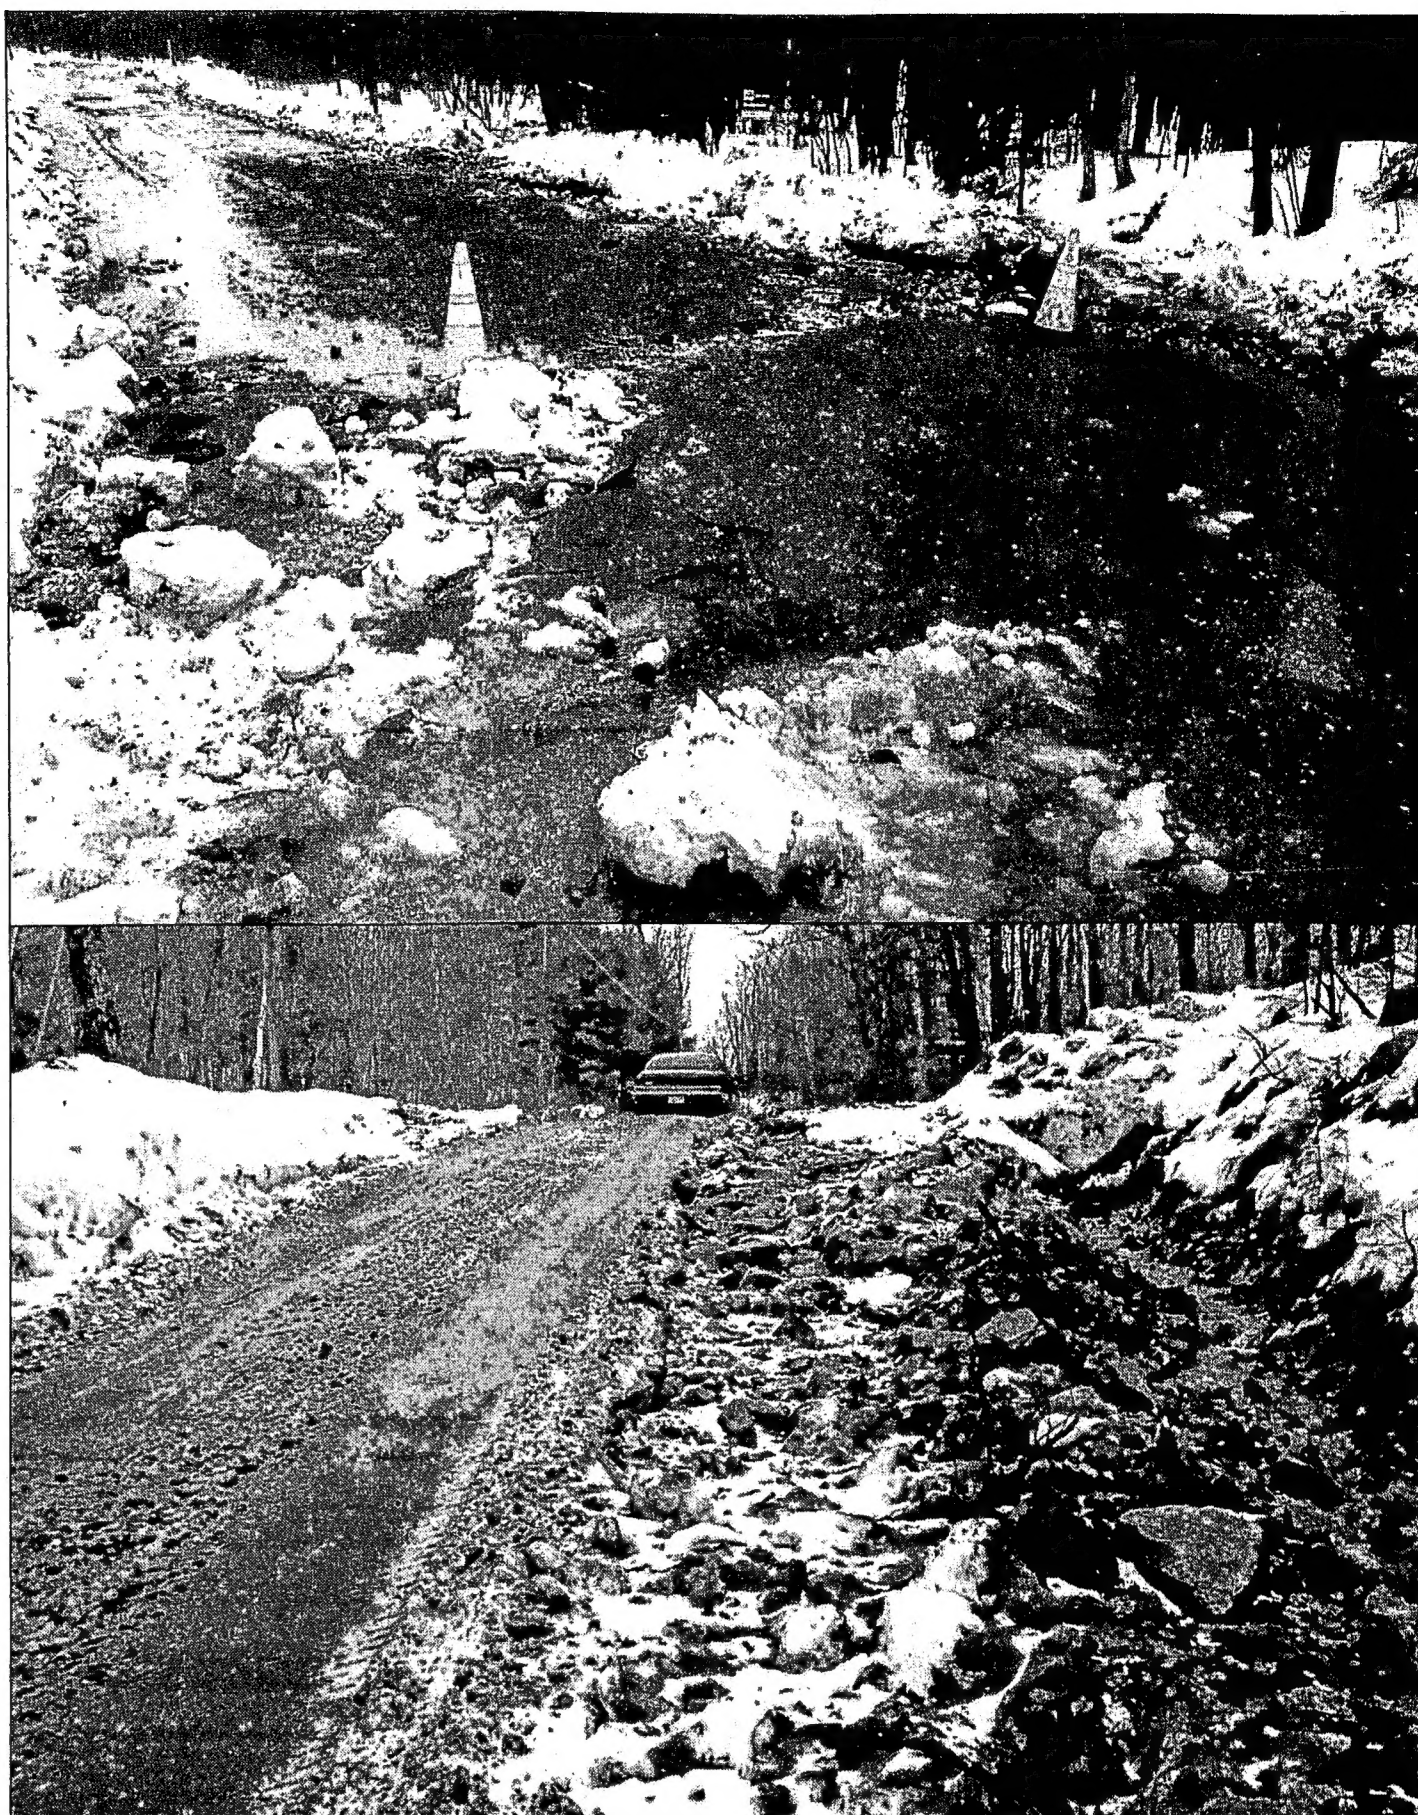

The Hoehstead has had a guest this week. Ed Siegel of Sun Valley, Idaho, also known as "Grampy Ed" to Molly and Andrew Siegel, is staying with us while he visits his son Kirk and family just down the road. Their place is quite small, so we're happy to have him here every night.

Bethel is about to have another coffee shop. Joyce Donnaruma is embarking on a new venture, and if all goes well, she will open "A Serendipity Café" on Friday, April 20, in the Casablanca building. That date is not quite set in concrete, so watch for news. The café will be providing coffee (of course!), sandwiches, soups, salads, baked goods, designer cakes, etc.

Joyce has worked in retail for over 30 years. Among other things, she has managed McDonald's in both Rumford and South Paris and worked at Sunday River for several years. She needed capital to fulfill her dream, and found the answer to her prayers in a silent partner who is providing the backing she needed. Joyce has hired Diana Howe as her chef, as well as five other employees, and she hopes to add at least three more in the near future.

There are many creative ideas in the works, such as a coffee mug club and a cookie program for area students. Parents of students would sign up for regular deliveries of cookies, birthday cakes, etc., to their children. And of course anyone may order those and other baked goods at any time. Everything will be baked fresh daily on the premises. Joyce describes the business as "like the Java House, only bigger." I visited Joyce on the premises the other day, and it all looks very pleasant and welcoming. We wish her the very best of luck at the opening and every day thereafter.

A couple of months ago, the town removed a big old maple from in front of Jane Hosterman's house, the dying tree being on town property. Recently Alanson Cummings cornered Jane and told her that "it was the last one." It turns out that over a hundred years ago, one Alpheus Bean had a slew of maples planted all up and down the Flat Road, and now the last one (Jane's) has bitten the dust.

This led to further discussion about Mr. Bean's contributions to the town of West Bethel. It seems that he built a number of houses (most still standing) for his employees, so that they could be near their jobs. He also built a small hotel to house his bachelor employees. Moreover, Bean approached the Chapel Aid Society of the West Bethel congregation, which was without a building, and proposed that if they were to buy a piece of land, he would build them a church. Such a deal! Build it he did (at a whopping cost of $14,500!), and he deeded it in 1893 to the congregation with the sole proviso that the church remain forever an interdenominational, union church. And there it is to this day. What a guy!

I'd love to hear how you're coping with the weather blues and other news, so call or write: 836-3011; dhoeh@megalink.net. Regards from your soggy neighbor.

Gilead

by
Lin Chapman

The big anticipation today (Sunday) is whether or not the weather reports are right and this area will be hit with a lot of rain and snow. It is raining right now with a few flakes mixed in. Since Gilead lost power this past Thursday around midnight until Friday afternoon, I thought it might be a good idea to get a head start on writing the column.

It was a good idea to dismiss school early on Thursday so the busses could get the students home before the storm hit. As predicted, the traveling was terrible at the time the busses would have been traveling. Friday was a late start and only elementary students went to school. Telstar was without power until mid morning. I stayed home and kept the birdfeeder full!

I decided to count the different kinds of birds at the feeder in front of the house and those who stop by out back. There were 20 different kinds of birds: chickadees, blue jays, purple finches, goldfinches, evening grosbeaks, juncos, titmouse, cardinals, starlings, grackles, mourning doves, cowbirds, turkeys, crows, nut-hatches, hairy woodpecker, downy woodpecker, sparrows, red-winged blackbirds and one lone Robin. I could not even begin to imagine how many there were, but the number of juncos is more than I have ever seen before.

A big thank you goes out to my neighbor, Linda Smith. She decided, for several reasons, that it would be best if the mail on Depot Street was delivered right to the houses. She did the paperwork with the Post Office, and it was approved as of April 14. For years, the boxes have been at the end of the street along with the mailboxes for Bridge Street. It certainly was a treat to go to the end of my driveway on Saturday and get my mail. Thank you, Linda. Also, a big thanks to our son, Tim, who helped dig the hole and install our mailbox.

Hugh's brother, Bill Lord, called the other evening to check in and see how we are doing. He just loves to mention the 90-degree weather that he is having, and that he was outside doing some yard work. Of course, we offered to send out some of our snow, but he wasn't interested.

My brother, Steve McLain, stopped by the house on his way to the selectmen's meeting last week. They were lucky to get the meeting in before the storm hit the next day.

Selectmen's Meeting

The selectmen met on April 11 for their regular meeting. This is the beginning of the year so the new selectman, Steve McLain, was present along with the other two selectmen, Fernand Corriveau and Mark Wigley. Also attending the meeting was: Beverly Corriveau, administrative assistant; Linsley Chapman, treasurer; and Jeremy Morin and his son, Keith.

They discussed where the town was headed with having an official Town Office instead of doing business out of the homes of the officers. Since there does not seem to be any buildings for sale and modifying the Town Hall would diminish the historical value of it, they will look into other options. The selectmen voted to authorize the highway commissioner to help with the purchase of the truck with plow and sander that will be added to the Highway Department. It was voted at Town Meeting to look into the purchase and bring the figures back to the town at a Special Town Meeting.

A VISIT TO THE STATE HOUSE

The Keane family of Bethel last week visited the State House and Rep. Timothy Carter, D-Bethel. Marie Keane made the trip with her daughter, Katlyn, and her son, Matthew, who both served as honorary pages for the day. Katlyn will return soon to the State House to sing the national anthem before the House of Representatives at the opening of a session day. They are shown here at the podium in the House chamber.

weather. Officers elected at the recent Annual Meeting are Dean Gross, president; Janina Gross, vice president; Jen McPherson, secretary; Jeff Sterling, treasurer; and trustees, Brian Gross, Fred McPherson and Bob Parise. Coaches for the upcoming season are Bob Parise, Farm League; Dean Gross, Mike Morton and John Halacy, Little League; and Jeremy Sterling and Dick Morton, Babe Ruth.

The annual bottle drive, the RPCAA's chief fundraiser, will be held Saturday, April 21, starting at 9 a.m. at the field on the Martin Road. Last year's bottle drive raised over $1,000 and we are looking to do better this year. So please have your bottles and cans ready. If you don't plan on being home Saturday morning, please consider dropping your bottles and cans off at the field. If in the likely case the field is still covered with snow, please drop off at the end of the driveway of 16 Martin Road, which is directly across from the field. All proceeds from the bottle drive go to the field improvements.

Anyone wishing to sign up for one of the three teams, who has missed the first two sign-ups, may sign up 9 a.m. to noon on April 21, at the field. The annual field clean-up day has been scheduled for Sunday, April 29, but that is likely to be pushed back. Watch for more information on this.

Cub Scout Pack 566 held their last Cub Scout meeting in the meeting room at the Hanover Town Office on Wednesday afternoon, April 11. The boys enjoyed homemade ice cream sundaes under the direction of Pack Leader Kelly Harrington assisted by Patty Kellner.

Boys at the meeting were Brendon Stearns, Thomas Wright, Zachary Kellner, Keith Crockett, Luke Angvine, Robert Crockett, Jeremiah Edwards, Trivett Clough and Fabian Corriveau. Later that evening at Crescent Park

School in Bethel, the boys left the Cub Scouts behind and became Webelos.

After last week's snowstorm a young moose was seen in Hanover Village. The moose traveled through the area and was along the Androscoggin River bank for some time.

A reminder that the meeting for Gardner Roberts Memorial Library will be tonight, April 19, at the Hanover Town Office. It is expected that a plan for relocating the books and furnishings from the library before the building is moved will be the primary topic. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

We always enjoy Linda Macgregor's column each Tuesday in the regional daily newspaper. She and her husband live on the Jed Martin Road at Rumford Point. The April 10 column seemed especially interesting. She wrote of good places to eat breakfast and Gordie Howe's was on her list. She mentioned my sister-in-law, Bonnie Bulger, and her husband, Frank; they are nice folks and Frank is always helpful. She's right, Mrs. Macgregor wrote about the Hanover Post Office and how friendly Post Master Gretchen and "one of the Worcestersters" are. It's my brother, Dave Worcester, who works at the Post Office. He is a great guy who is always willing to help others, anytime.

Sara Clark was in Portland for two days last week attending the C.N. Brown Trade Show.

As this week begins we are headed into another big snowstorm. It seems like we ought to say "uncle" or something. Enough already! Let's have spring come now.

Services
at the Baptist Church are Sunday School at 9:15
a.m., morning worship at 10:30 a.m., youth group at 4 p.m., choir practice at 5 p.m. and evening service at 6 p.m. Wednesday evening at 6:30 p.m. is prayer meeting. A good number were out to the sunrise service and breakfast as well as the Easter service last week.

Marybeth Hoover was home for the Easter weekend.

David and JoAnn Crockett were given a 25th wedding anniversary party last Saturday afternoon at the Grange Hall by family and friends.

Judith Grover Tent 17 Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War met on Monday at the home of Alice Hoyt; six members were present. Memorial Day plans were discussed, flags ordered and more discussion of Senior Citizens dinner. Reports were handed out. Convention date announced. Next meeting will be at the Grange Hall. Calls reported were 20 and mystery package went to Amanda Jordan.

Franklin Grange 124 met on Saturday, April 7. They voted to hold a Hee-Haw show on Saturday, May 5, at 7 p.m. Come help support the Grange.

A dance will be held in Canton at the Ole Canton Fire Hall (Community Hall) on Friday, April 27, from 7 to 11 p.m. The admission will be $5 and a snack bar will be open at intermission. There will be a 50/50 drawing and a door prize. Music will be provided by Lola Lee and The Country Bandits and they will be entertaining you with a variety of music from the '30s, '40s and '50s eras — oldies, country, bluegrass, French tunes, jigs and reels and more. So put on your dancing shoes and "Come on Down" to join your friends and neighbors for a fun and relaxing evening. For those of you who do not dance, just come and socialize and enjoy the music.

On Saturday, May 5, the dance will be held at the Livermore Falls Grange Hall from 7 to 11 p.m. with all the same offerings as the April 27 dance. Join them for a fun evening.

Sympathy is extended to Florence Walker on the death of her mother, Bertha Stevens.

Historical Society

The Historical Society Museum has fine examples of local memorabilia, antiques, and art. Bryant Pond exhibits and large antiques are on the first floor. Our art gallery and small collectibles are on the second. Quite a few things from South Woodstock are also up there along with tools and a section of farm implements. Do plan to come to the meetings at the museum from May on and you can also view the exhibits.

The Historical Society Museum is a historical and cultural center for the area, as well as a representative New England museum. It especially emphasizes the Decorative Arts. Because of it and the New England Cultural Center, Curator Larry Billings calls Bryant Pond "the ultimate cultural destination".

Larry Billings recently purchased a plaque with praying hands and the serenity prayer on it at Perham's.

Tabitha and Jonathan Tolub visited the Billings family and went to the Baptist Church Easter morning. Jonathan was raised Jewish but also wanted to learn about Christianity. He is quite mature for a boy his age.

The Historical Society Museum will open in June and you will be astonished how much more they have to offer. Local residents have donated many old photos. Larry has given numerous exhibits. Larry Billings and Annella Burnham will soon get plants for the urns when they open.

Andover

Wow! What a wonderful spring storm we've been having!

I guess we don't need any more snow for a while. Too bad we couldn't have gotten this back in December. The town Highway crew had their work cut out for them on Monday. The real key I have found out is to just slow down.

April vacation is this week for the schools; maybe it will be a good time to go to the movies and the mall.

Congratulations to the following Andover students who achieved honors for the third quarter at Telstar. Grade six, high honors, Autumn Berry; honors, Kelsey Averill, Gabrielle Conrad, Ashley Hall, JennaLee Putnam. Seventh grade: high honors, Adam Mahar; honors, Carson McKay. Eighth grade: Elek Pew. Ninth grade: Amy Jane Mahar. Tenth grade: Whitney Mills. Eleventh grade: Mark Emerson, Esther Pew. Twelfth grade: Nicholas Hammond, Jennifer Learned.

(It's hard to believe that the fourth quarter is already here.)

Joye Rier, Spanaway, Wash., spent last week in Andover, visiting with friends. (Her parents are former Andover residents, Polly and Dick Johnston.)

Last week I forgot some Easter dinner news. Peg and Joe Madigan had a lovely Easter lunch of ice cream sundaes at Frosty Delight!

Have a nice weekend.

Tracy Milligan with daughters, Emma and Ava, of Apex, N.C., visited with Roger and Louise Twitchell and their son, Stewart, over the Easter weekend.

Rose Dyer will celebrate her 90th birthday on April 25. If you wish to send her a card, her address is 3 Balsam Road, Bethel, ME 04217.

Lynn Zimmerman attended the Maine Garden Day in Auburn on April 14. The Garden Day is put on by the Extension Service.

Rudi and Barbara Honkala went to the Finnish-American Heritage Society's lunch and meeting at the Finn Hall in West Paris on April 15. The socety will be putting on a public supper on May 19.

I don't know about anybody else, but I am tired of moving snow around. It was almost all gone from in front of the house. Now it is piled higher than ever. Let's hope this one coming down on the 15th is the last for this spring. God Bless the Troops.

West Paris

by Joyce Lamb

Winter is back with vicious winds and several inches of heavy, wet snow. Some of the ground had softened up so that the snowplow moved a lot of the soil upside down. There will have to be a lot of top soil added along beside the driveway and seeded down to have a green lawn again. The old pine tree near the road in front of the house lost several large limbs. Someone can have a lot of firewood for next winter. I do not have a wood-burning stove so cannot use it.

At the West Paris Universalist Church on April 22 Ben Tucker will be the speaker. Jim Burke is organist. A coffee hour follows. All are welcome.

Last Sunday The Rev. Richard Beal led the service as a candidate for minister of the West Paris and Norway churches. It was voted to hire him for the two churches for the next church year. He and his wife were here for several days and were pleased with the churches and the area. They will move here for the beginning of the church year in September.

Beverly and Vince Stevens attended a birthday party for Donadan Goodwin in New Gloucester at the home of his parents, Tina and Josh Goodwin. He was one year old.

There is a new addition to my family — "Muffin," a female rag doll who is two-and-a-half years old. An Augusta family could no longer take care of her for they travel around a lot. She came with all her papers, food, litter box and toys. They were looking for a good family and I would do. She sleeps on my bed but inches of snow and got maybe three to four inches before the rains set in and washed it all away. Actually, it was freezing rain or sleet in the night because I could hear it against the roof. In any case, it is sloppy but, hopefully, it will be warming up by the time you read this.

The birds are out in force lately. They have finally started to come earlier. I have seen them as early as 6:15 a.m. They have been eating voraciously, especially when snow is predicted. We filled the feeders this weekend in case we couldn't get to them after the snow. There is a yellow grosbeak pair in addition to the usual yellow goldfinches. A downy woodpecker has been coming to the new feeders in front of the house. I watch him from my chair in the front room. Later in the day the mourning doves and the blue jays come. This a.m. (Monday) a red squirrel was ready to set up residence in one of our feeders. Not anymore. They are so destructive.

This Thursday (today) there is a community supper at the Wilkins House. It is at 6 p.m. Bring your favorite dish.

Due to the expected snow and wind, we had visitors Sunday. Friend Monique of Bethel was worried she would lose power so Dusty came to stay with us where it was warm and dry. Sadie came too. They played video games all day/and half the night.

This is National Poetry Month and I have been negligent about getting anything going. Too much going in too many directions that kept me from focusing on what needed to be done. I missed the Senior Players and I wanted to go there.

By chance, David and I picked up a washer and dryer he had left at the Transfer Station and stopped at Kowloon's for supper. Sitting there was an old friend I hadn't seen since our wedding. She couldn't find my phone number, thanks to Ma Bell's refusal to list me unless I paid the extra money. Now I pay extra every month so people can find me.

That is all for this week. Have to get ready to face the rainy outdoors. Have a great week.

Oxford County Democrats

The Oxford County Democrats and Friends are planning a day at the State House in Augusta on Thursday, April 26, observing government in action and visiting Democratic incumbents, State Sen. Bruce Bryant, Rep. Terry Hayes, Rep. John Patrick, Rep. Larry Sirois and Rep. Tim Carter.

Governor John E. Baldacci has scheduled a special visit with the group in his office. Field trip organizer Cathy Newell is working with the office of Speaker Glenn Cummings to organize meetings with key legislators and special briefings on issues of interest. House and Senate sessions and committee hearings will round out the day.

Please register if you want to attend this special day by calling Cathy Newell, 875-2116, or e-mailing cathyn@megalink.net.

Mahoosuc Land Trust

Items are coming in for MLT's eBay auction. An antique oriental watercolor, a Havaheart animal trap, a gumball machine and gift certificates to local businesses are some of the exciting things available so far. You can help by donating items and by telling your friends about the auction. They can log on to www.mahoosuc.org and click on the "Ebay Auction" icon, which will take them directly to all of the items to be auctioned.

This winter's MLT Local Knowledge lecture series that began in November was concluded last night with Chris Mattrick of WMNF on the topic of Invasive Plants. The series began with Roger Zimmerman's slides of back country ski trips to Baxter State Park. Bill Yeo a former Bethel resident's trek to Everest's Summit gave an excellent picture of what it was like to climb using as little oxygen as possible. The music and slides he used showed not only the mountains but people from around the world and the settlements along the way. Ellen Cowie of UMF's archaeology department intrigued the audience with artifacts and slides describing digs in Maine. She helped the audience visualize the lives of long-forgotten peoples.

MLT would like to thank the speakers and Gould Academy and its staff for helping to make this year's series a success.

From

Western Mountains Senior College

"Down Home Maine," a unique new series about creative and adventurous people of Maine, will be launched this spring by Western Mountains Senior College. This series, co-sponsored by the Bethel Historical Society, will include single-session presentations and bring the audience face to face with adventurers, leaders, artists, craftspeople, naturalists and educators — many of who (surprise!) are nearby neighbors.

All presentations will be held in late afternoon from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at the Moses Mason House, Broad Street, Bethel. "Adventures on the Schooner Haagard in the Northeast Passage" by local Bethel artisan, Odd Lyngholm, will be featured in the first program to be held on Friday, April 27.

Odd will speak about his past adventures on Schooner Haagard sailing between Siberia and the North Pole. He designed and built his boat especially for the two-month trip and will speak of his many escapades during the trip. He retired to Bethel in 2002 and needed furniture for his home so he built it. Now, this hobby has become his part-time rustic "Live Edge" furniture business. His wife, Sarah, joins him by producing handmade paper and soap products. Odd wants his talk to be informal and he will be happy to answer questions or discuss further anything about his unique trip.

Other programs in this spring's series include "What the Governor's Local Schools Regional Support Initiative" may mean for SAD44" by Superintendent David Murphy on May 4; "What's with Wind Power and What's up with Plum Creek" by Steve Wight, Land Use Regulation Committee's Commissioner, on June 8; and "The Past, Present, and Future of the Bethel Historical Society" by Stan Howe, museum curator, on June 22.

All programs are open to the public and free of charge.

However, donations will be gratefully accepted. For more information, contact J. Cressy at 824-0508 or P. Gartner at 666-2181.

Bethel Senior Citizens

The Bethel Senior Citizens Club met April 11 at the Locke Mills Legion Hall for their meeting and luncheon with 38 members present. President Nancy Mercer conducted the meeting and led the salute to the flag.

Reports were given by Jane Hosterman and Arlene Lowell. The next meeting will be May 9 at the Alder River Grange Hall in East Bethel. Meeting will start at 11 a.m. and price of dinner is $7. The speaker will be Tineke Ouwinga.

The door prize was won by Maurice Lescault. The raffle, which was a 50/50, was won by Maurice Lescault.

Everyone enjoyed the music by the Yet to be Named Band. President Nancy Mercer is working on getting a bus for the trip on the Songo Queen, which is July 11.

Humorous readings were done by Cecile Lescault.

New members are always welcome.

April birthdays are: Phyllis Blake, Jodi Carter, Barbara Douglass, Rose Dyer, Marilyn Gilbert, Jane Hosterman and Emma Page.

From

SWOAM

The Western Maine chapter of the Small Woodland Owners Association of Maine will host a four-hour chainsaw safety training session beginning at 9 a.m., April 21 at Rich and Beth Merk's farm in Otisfield.

Michael Maines of Maines Tree Works will offer the program that will include chainsaw safety features, saw handling tips, a discussion of personal protective equipment and a tree-felling demonstration. There will be plenty of opportunity to ask questions. There is a $10 per-person fee for the program, payable April 21.

The Merk's Applewood Farm is located on the Forrest Edwards Road in Otis-field, which is off the Powhatan Road off Route 121. Forrest Edwards Road is located south of the Otisfield Elementary School. From the Casco end of Route 121, follow Mayberry Hill to Powhatan Road to Forrest Edwards Road. SWOAM signs will be posted.

Coffee and doughnuts are available at 8:30 a.m. The program is open to anyone and advance registration is appreciated. For more information, contact Rich Merk at 627-4102 or applewoodfarm@fairpoint.net or Chapter President Bill Haynes at 583-2963 or forest@maine.com.

From

Western Maine University and Community College Center

Maine's public universities will offer more than a dozen courses in special education at WMUCC during the upcoming summer and fall semesters. The courses will be delivered via interactive television and teleconference. Many courses also will be available online.

The courses will appeal to people seeking certification in special education. Because of the variety of courses offered at the center each semester, students can earn 24 credit hours in special education in a relatively short amount of time. Courses range from undergraduate level courses, such as Special Education Law, to graduate level courses, including Education of the Gifted and Talented.

Located at 232 Main Street in South Paris, WMUCC offers local access to the courses and programs of Maine's seven public universities. Each semester, University College offers hundreds of courses leading to 36 university degrees and certificates. ITV and online courses also are available at Telstar Regional High School in Bethel.

In addition to university courses, WMUCC provides personalized support for students, particularly to those beginning college for the first time. Advisors help students apply for financial aid, gain admission to degree programs, register for classes, order textbooks, and much more.

Registration for the summer sessions and fall semester is open and ongoing. To see a listing of all courses at WMUCC this fall, visit www.learn.maine.edu. For more information about the center and its services, call 743-9322.

From

Western Mountains Alliance

The Zone Coalition recently hosted one of the series of Lead Western Maine workshops and welcomed participants from across Oxford, Franklin and Somerset counties to the center for local children. Caroline King, Board vice chair of the Zone Coalition, is a 2007 participant in the leadership program, which is coordinated by the Western Mountains Alliance. The Alliance has been building grassroots leadership capacity in the region for twenty years.

"The Zone Coalition initially evolved out of our community's hope for the future and it became our organizational vision to unite the towns of Phillips, Madrid and Avon by nurturing the community's youth," said King. King, along with the Board of Directors, is leading the organization into that future.

The initial project, which began in 1999, was focused on youth and was named the S.A.F.E. Zone, which stands for Staying Alcohol (and Drug) Free Everyday. The S.A.F.E. Zone provides activities for middle and high school students on Saturday evenings and remains an ongoing program through the dedication of countless volunteers. In 2004, a nonprofit corporation was formed by a group of concerned citizens to continue the work of the S.A.F.E. Zone and to expand the mission to include the development of the Zone Community Center.

In 2005, the American Legion Post 64 gave us a permanent home in the Alumni Gym, better known as "The

NOT THE WEATHER HE WAS BANKING ON—Monday's Nor'easter, coupled with the snow left over from two earlier storms, seemed to confuse this robin perched in a tree behind the Northeast Bank in Bethel. (Photo)

Old Gym" on Depot Street in Phillips. This building is a unique piece of local history, having been built originally as a machine and carpentry shop for the narrow gauge railroad system in Phillips in the late 1870s, later serving as the Phillips High School Gymnasium and now home to the Zone.

With the addition of a larger permanent facility, the youth program, in collaboration with the Lighthouse Baptist Church, has recently expanded to include kindergarten to sixth-grade students in a structured after-school program, which currently serves 25-40 youth each week on Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

"People from across western Maine join the Lead Western Maine group each year and for most workshops we travel around the region to see their projects and to sample the local culture.

The Zone Coalition is an amazing story in a promising community. The LWM group gained a deeper understanding of the strengths and opportunities ahead for the Zone Coalition by seeing the site firsthand," said Kathleen Beauregard, facilitator of Lead Western Maine.

Lead Western Maine is a program that supports people to transform their ideas for western Maine's future into action through the development of leadership skills, resources and networks. Participants learn how to find grants and build donor support for their project, motivate and organize volunteers, develop an effective board or committee, communicate with the media, facilitate meetings, negotiate win-win solutions, and support small business or project development. The next session, on April 25 in Rumford, is open to the public and will feature speakers from the Institute for Civic Leadership on "Finding and Keeping Great Board Members" and "Harnessing the Energy of Inclusive Effective Community Groups." For more information, please visit the website at www.westernmountainsalliance.org.

Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

An exhibit, "Great Water Road: The Androscoggin and its Valley," will be the next major exhibition at the O'Neil Robinson House produced by the staff and volunteers of the Bethel Historical Society, according to Randall H. Bennett, curator of collections at the society. It will open on June 2 on the first floor of the Robinson House and will replace the current exhibit on Molly Ockett, which is scheduled to end in May.

One of the largest rivers in northern New England, the Androscoggin drains an area of over 3,400 square miles in New Hampshire and Maine. The 170-mile waterway begins its journey to the sea near Errol, N.H., at the outlet of the Rangeley Lakes and — punctuated with numerous rapids and falls — eventually meets the waters of the Kennebec in Merrymeeting Bay below Brunswick.

Long a favorite subject of artists and photographers as it flows through broad intervals, the Androscoggin by the 1960s had become one of the most polluted rivers in the nation, but thanks to more stringent rules governing industrial and municipal sewerage, it has made a comeback and is now assuming the position of being a significant recreational resource for many communities located along its banks.

Through a variety of carefully selected images, artifacts and text, this exhibition will present a vivid picture of the Androscoggin's past — as a transportation route for Native Americans and in more recent times for logs often driven by fabled river drivers to lumber and pulp mills further downstream. The river has also been a source of nutrients for agricultural production, waterpower for industry and as a popular destination for nature enthusiasts, canoeists, tourists and fishermen.

"I expect this exhibit will have something for everyone," Bennett noted in making the announcement of this forthcoming event. "It has the potential to reach a large audience since almost everyone in the area possesses some memory or tie to that remarkable river."

A special opening reception will be held on June 2 at the Robinson House with further details scheduled to be announced later in May.

the Bethel Historical Society, founded in 1966, is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive full-time historical agency, dedicated to collecting, preserving, and interpreting the regional past for present and future generations. For over forty years, the society's activities have included lectures, exhibits, special events, heritage festivals, workshops, conferences, school and educational programs, and publications. In 1974, the society acquired the former Broad Street residence of Dr. Moses Mason, which now contains a period house museum, exhibit hall and research library. In 1999, the society opened the O'Neil Robinson House (next door at 10 Broad Street) to the public for an expanded exhibit program, museum shop space, and administrative offices. Through the years, the society's achievements have been recognized by a number of state and national organizations.

Further information about the society and its activities may be obtained by calling 824-2908 or 800-824-2910, or by sending an e-mail to info@bethelhistorical.org. Additional information can also be obtained by checking the society's website at www.bethelhistorical.org. The society's mailing address is P.O. Box 12, Bethel, ME 04217-0012.

Bryce Walker, second base/pitcher

"Last year we finished 8-7, losing in the first round of playoffs. We should be better this year. I think our pitching and defense will be improved. That alone should make us better, but I think we'll be able to score runs more consistently. This group of seniors proved in the fall that they can focus and lead and I expect them to do the same this spring." — coach Bob Remington.

TELSTAR HIGH SCHOOL SOFTBALL PREVIEW

Seniors:
Josie Belanger, shortstop
Megan Smith, first base/catcher
Kara Thurlow, second/third base

LIFE IN AFGHANISTAN—In December, the first-graders in Norma Salway's class at the Crescent Park Elementary School sent Christmas cards and letters to soldiers with the HHC 240th Engineering Group in Afghanistan. The commanding officer with the infantry unit associated with the group is Capt. Jarrod Crockett, a Bethel native. In March, Crockett wrote back to the class to thank them, and sent a variety of items from Afghanistan, including a scarf, girl's jacket and pants, Taliban currency, a boy's hat, a Russian Army belt from the former occupiers, a map of Afghanistan and a calendar in Dari/Pashtu, and a hand-carved camel (a symbol of the nomadic people of the region). Crockett's cousin, Victoria Crockett, is pictured here with the items, which are displayed in the lobby of the school. (Photos: A. Aloisio)

SCHOOL NEWS FROM AROUND THE DISTRICT

Kindergarteners from Mrs. Sabin's class at CPS recently participated in the Maine State Symbols Poster Contest. After discussing and viewing the various state symbols, each student created their own poster to be judged at the State House next month.

Nicole Berry and Sammy Miller pose in front of a garden they created out of pattern blocks during a hands-on math lesson.

The students in Mrs. Charette's fourth grade class have recently become crusaders for the environment. After being educated about renewable and nonrenewable energy sources by MEEP (the Maine Energy Education Program), the class volunteered to become the first ever CPS Energy Patrol. They were trained on how to read electric meters, light meters, and electric nameplates. The class recruited classrooms to participate at Crescent Park, and they now patrol these classrooms daily to monitor their energy usage. The Energy Patrol currently rewards classes for turning off their lights and computer monitors while they are at lunch. Later this year, they will begin to use a light meter to show classes that during certain times of the day, natural light is so strong that the lights do not need to be turned on at all. The Energy Patrol will be compiling and graphing data each week to show how the school's energy usage will hopefully decrease as time goes on. Not only will this program save the school money, the students also know that using less energy will in turn decrease the amount of coal that power plants need to burn, therefore lowering the levels of carbon dioxide released into the air. Saving energy is a great habit for everyone to get into! Pictured at left are CPS Energy Patrol members Shaynah Seames, Andrew Mills, and Rebecca Hale.

Mrs. Lee's K-1 class at Andover Elementary School made French toast for breakfast. They are working on lifeskills and good nutrition. At far left, Victoria Skillin is cracking eggs into a large bowl, and at left, Corbin Standeven is dipping his bread in the egg batter so it can be cooked.

A NIGHT OF FAMILY ACOUSTIC MUSIC!

"Mary Uke" will present an evening of fun-filled acoustic music for the whole family on Friday, May 4, 7 pm at Books N Things, 430 Main St. Norway.

Mary is a local singer songwriter, ukulele and guitar player, with roots in classical, folk, soft blues and pop. Her early influences include the Beatles, Mississippi John Hurt, Linda Ronstadt, and the Guthries. Her upbeat originals reflect a hopeful message. They are free spirited tunes of life in the country, happiness, love and dreams, appealing to all ages. Mary is promoting her debut CD "Love Is Strong". It is available at Books N Things and is described as "Rife with joyous hopeful imagery ... a rarity in pop music .. suitable for seniors, kids, or those into roots and folk music". She has shared stages with Kate Schrock, Tom Rush, and the late Fritz Richmond of the legendary Jim Kreskin Jug Band. She's been seen locally at Norway's Fare Share Follies, many community television programs, festivals, open mics, children's stages and night clubs. For six years she has been an active promoter of local music with the Commons Music Collective, Musicians of Maine, Maine Songwriters Association, and the Norway Summer Festival. She was chosen for the Discovery Stage at the Maine Festival 2002 and is often found spending her time singing in classrooms at the Hartford Sumner Elementary School.

Planning to continue performing throughout New England, Mary has formed a duo called "Uke Soft Shoe" with known bassist Dave Kent from Bath. They have performed at venues in Portland and at the annual Great Falls Balloon Festival showcasing a unique blend of electric bass and concert ukulele. 'Delightful music for all occasions.

On this evening, Mary Uke will be solo, performing sing-alongs and favorites by Carole King, PP&M, Cat Stevens, Willie Nelson, John Denver, Johnny Cash, Bob Dylan, Neil Young, Norah Jones and Hawaii's Israel Kamakawiwo'ole, along with her lyrical originals and new tunes from her up-coming Kid's Pop album "Little Pony Express".

So, bring the whole family for a warm evening of lighthearted entertainment. Check out the many books, gifts and CD's. No admission. FMI & directions, visit www.maryukelady.com or call 207-739-6200.

Factory tours are Saturday and Sunday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Oxford Hills Chamber and the 12 show participants: Alternative Modular, Burlington Homes, Design First Homes, KBS Building Systems, Keiser Industries, Maine Home Center, Maine HomeCrafters, Martin's Country Homes, Oxford Homes, Schiavi Homes, Twin Town Homes and Turn Key Homes of Maine.

It's always wise to call ahead

Listings in The Citizen's weekly Community Calendar are compiled from a wide variety of sources. While we do our utmost to ensure the reliability of the information presented here, we recognize that when dealing with such a large volume of material, some inaccuracies will occasionally creep in. And in other cases, a sponsoring organization's plans may change between the time The Citizen is printed and the event is held. Accordingly, we strongly urge our readers to call ahead to verify the details of any event they plan to attend. Doing so will greatly reduce the chance of disappointment or needless inconvenience.

STEP IT UP 2007—About 80 people assembled on the Bethel Common Saturday as part of a nationwide rally in support of action to slow global warming. More than 1,300 similar gatherings, billed as Step It Up 2007, took place across the U.S. More than 30 of them were in Maine. The effort is intended to push Congress to require an 80 percent cut in carbon dioxide emissions by 2050. In Bethel, 70 people signed a petition in support of the proposal. (Photo: A. Aloisio)

Before Buying a Home!
Where do you start when you are ready to buy a home? Before you begin looking for a home, you have to make some decisions. You need to decide what is important to you when purchasing your home. Before starting out on your home search, it is a good idea to sit down and develop a list of what is important and what you would like in your new home. Your list should include school, neighborhood, amenities, number of bedrooms, number of baths, a basement, a separate dining room, a study, family room or foyer, one level ranch plan, master bedroom on the main floor, special financing, seller willing to cover closing costs and the list goes on and on.
An experienced buyer real estate agent can help you through the process. There is no such thing as a perfect house, therefore once you have decided what you should look for, you should begin to prioritize it. You can prioritize into "must have," "should have" and "would like to have." By having a clear understanding of what you want in your new home, and the priority of those items, you will be in a much better position to decide whether you want to put an offer on a house you see and like. It is also a good idea to consider whether you want to purchase a new or pre-owned home.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU COMPLETING INSPECTION REPAIRS

When you sell a house, the buyers will probably schedule a home inspection. If the inspector finds areas that need attention or repair, the buyers may want to discuss some of the problems with you as a condition for proceeding with the sale.

When you get the buyers' list, remember that some of the items may be negotiable. Sales contracts usually require that all systems be in working condition, but some buyers may make requests that go beyond the normal obligations of the seller. They may ask for a new roof or certain structural repairs that you may not want to make. Your agent can help you assess the risks of just saying "no" to buyers who are making demands you consider unreasonable. Usually compromise is the best approach. If you just decline the requests, the buyers may back out of the deal. It's usually best to handle the needed repairs now, because the next buyer will probably have the same concerns.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771

Obituaries

DOROTHY A. STONE

Dorothy Ann Davidson Judkins Stone, 75, of Merrimack County Nursing Home, Boscawen, N.H., passed away on Saturday, March 31, 2007, at Lakes Region General Hospital following a long period of failing health.

She was born in Berlin, N.H., on June 24, 1931, daughter of Leon M. Davidson and Allegra (Nelson) Davidson Shepard. "Dot" graduated from Berlin High School, Class of 1949. Following graduation, she attended nursing school in Laconia, N.H.

During her life, Dorothy had an opportunity to travel as an employee of "Carson and Barnes Circus" and she lived in many states from coast to coast. She lived in Maine, New Hampshire, California and Oklahoma and traveled to almost all of the other states. She loved to see new places and meet new people. She was known for her quick wit and loved a good joke or amusing story. She loved music and loved to dance. Dot had a creative talent for working with her hands and a vivid imagination. She enjoyed sewing, wood carving, wood burning, cooking, painting, drawing and writing, and spending time with her family. She read incessantly. She was very proud of her greatest accomplishments, which she considered were her five children, her nursing degree, creative talents and "running away to join the Circus."

When Dot was in her twenties and married to Kendrick Judkins, she ran a typical fifties type diner called "The Dump On The Hump" in Upton during the summers. She was the "chief cook and bottle washer" as she called it, cooking on a big wood stove and serving not only short orders but also wonderful pies and desserts to many of the truckers and vacationers who traveled Route 26 on their way to Coastal Maine. During those years before fire burned the restaurant and adjoining Judkins' Store on February 20, 1959, she was also raising four of her five children.

Although she had a wide range of jobs she enjoyed, she loved the time that she lived, traveled, and worked with the Circus. She ran the "Circus tee shirt stand" where she collected and distributed mail for the circus community as the Circus Mail Agent and sold tee shirts, patches, banners, programs, route books, posters, hats, pencils and Dot's creation of "magic gold rocks." Dorothy loved to talk to the children and they loved her magic gold rocks, which she sold for a quarter each. When a child would ask her, "Are they really, really gold rocks?" she would answer, "They are real rocks with real gold paint. And, every time you look at it you can remember the day you went to the Circus."

Besides her parents, she was predeceased by her two ex-husbands; Kendrick R. Judkins who died April 1, 1971, and Henry S. Stone who died Jan. 9, 2004, and one grandson, Christopher S. Sweetser who died in August 1978.

She is survived by her five children, Dorcas Janos-Hill of Franklin, N.H., Deborah J. Judkins and partner Eduardo Arenas of Northfield, N.H., and Upton, James K. Judkins of Rio Hondo, Texas, Donna Tourigny and her husband Normand, Jr. of Sanbornton, N.H., and Jennie A.
